JURY FOREMAN WHO SAVED GIRL NAN PATTERSON'S SISTER FREED; RICH MAN TO AID THE ACTRESS

Level M. Abbot, first juror of the twelve jurors, is believed to have been the one man who, standing out for his innocence against the desire of the jury, prevented Nan Patterson from being convicted of the murder. When he was under examination by counsel before being impeached, he was asked whether Nan's former manner of life would influence him in his verdict. His answer was: "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone."

$50,000 BAIL IS READY

==TO==

FREE GIRL

Friend of Lawyer Levy Prepared to Furnish Any Amount Up to Sum Named to Secure
Release of Florodora Actress as Soon as She Is Able to Appear in Court.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Bail up to $50,000, should that amount be demanded, is in readiness to be offered for Nan Patterson, whose liberation will be sought for to-day by her lawyers.

The name of the prospective bondsman is yet withheld. Daniel O'Reilly, one of Nan's counsel, said to-day that the man who will become Nan's surety, should bond be required, is a friend of Abraham Levy, Nan's senior counsel, who has been greatly interested in the case, although he is not acquainted with the former "Florodora" girl.

Mr. Levy is of the opinion that Nan will be released on her own recognizance, and that no bail will be required. He said to-day to a reporter: "I shall insist upon this procedure, and I do not think the District Attorney will oppose it. If he does, I think the court will not uphold the District Attorney in any effort to further block the release of the girl by naming heavy bail."

BAIL READY TO ANY AMOUNT.
"If, however, bail should be insisted upon by the court, I am ready to furnish it in any amount. A friend of mine— it makes no difference whether he has ever seen Nan Patterson or not—has offered to go bail in any extent in case it is necessary."

Mr. Levy appeared at the District Attorney's office to-day, but found no one there with authority to act in the girl's case. Mr. Levy thinks that only nominal bail will be required for Miss Patterson, and that her release is only a question of a few days. He does not believe that the District Attorney will further block Miss Patterson from freedom by requiring heavy bail. If he does, Mr. Levy will appeal to the court.

Following her release, her lawyers hope the indictment charging the charges given with the murder of Caesar Young will be quashed, and the shooting of the bookmaker in a lagoon can take its place among the unsolved mysteries in New York criminal history.

Nan's condition continued steady to-day. Maguire, who has attended her constantly, said she was still confined to her bed and could take only liquid nourishment in small quantities. In her dreams during the night, Nan went over the drama of her life, and, about 3 o'clock, the keeper heard her moaning and calling:

SMITHS ARE FREED BY COURT

Indictment Against Nan Patterson's Sister and Brother-in-Law Quashed.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, May 5.—In a decision in which he severely rebuked the grand jury Judge Warren W. Foster today quashed the indictments against J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Julia, Nan Patterson's sister, charging them with conspiracy in connection with the death of Caesar Young. Judge Foster says that no evidence whatever is disclosed against the Smiths and says that the grand jury, in finding the indictments against both her and her own judicial position.

He grants permission to the District Attorney to resubmit the case to the present grand jury.

FIND GOLD LEAF ON SHIP IN BAGS OF DIRTY LINEN

Custom inspectors and officials of the Customs House are searching for one of the under stowaways of the steamship Yvernia, who is wanted to explain how gold leaf to the value of over $15,000 should appear in the hold of dirty linen and was about to be taken away when discovered by Customs Inspector Paul Mason.

It was one of the most recent attempts to get the gold leaf into this country free of duty that the Government officers have even found. The gold has been concealed in the country free of duty, which is forty-five per cent, and in this case would have been considered.

Immediately after the discovery had been made that the supposed bags of dirty linen contained the gold leaf, officials of the Customs House questioned every one of the crew of the Yvernia. One of the stewards whose name was suggested to give did not appear when he was asked for, but had not been found yet.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR STRIKERS

Mob Chicago Negro Strike
Breakers and Attack
Non-Union Men.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Women strike mobbers took part for the first time in the disorder and tumult that have marked the strike, when they mobbed the negro strike breakers in the yards of the Pullman Coal Company, Twenty-sixth and Canal streets, hurling bricks and stones at the mobsters, men and smashing the windows in the office.

Threats of setting fire to the plant were made by some of the angry women, who stubbornly refused to give way before the private watchmen of the coal company. Instead they pelted the guards with missiles, gathered in the streets. The women against whom the demonstration was directed remained in the shelter of the Pullman Coal Company building.

Only a strong detail of police summoned on a riot call, had dispersed the women. Over a hundred additional mobbers joined the strike today. Most of them struck in the attempt to tie up independent express companies and houses in the wholesale district which have refused on making deliveries to boycott firms.

A mob of women, armed with bricks, fought the strike breakers for the day, with hostile fists, knives and razors and stones, driving them only after one of them had been knocked unconscious with a bat. The fight occurred in the yards of the Pullman Coal Company, near Twenty-sixth and Canal streets. The mob, injured men, Harry Johnson. He may die.

Four hundred deputies sworn in, which went to Springfield to appear in the case. Sheriff Barrett to aid the police in preserving order, were assigned to their places in the down town district today. Chief of Police O'Neill, with this addition to his force, is confident that he will be able to handle the strike situation without the loss of life.

NAN PATTERSON IN A POSE OF "HOPE." Arrest Is Expected To-day to Clear BRALEY BOY MYSTERY

State Authorities Hope Certain Persons Will Be Induced to Shed Some Light.

DANBURY, N. H., May 5.—The authorities of Gratton County have started in earnest to solve the perplexing mystery of the strange disappearance of the baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Braley of White Meadows.

Clarence M. Murray here to-day, and the entire situation is to be gone over with the greatest care. The story of the little boy's disappearance on Thursday of last week and the absolute failure of anybody to find a tangible clue to his whereabouts, although hundreds have searched almost day and night since for him, has brought the people of two New Hampshire towns up to a high pitch of excitement.

ARREST IS EXPECTED.
Hundreds of men have been in the air for the last few days, and the coming of the High Sheriff has revived them. It would not surprise anybody here if some one were taken into custody before twenty-four hours. If such action is taken, it is thought that it would be mainly for the purpose of trying to make certain persons heard her moaning and calling:

JURY STOOD 8 TO 4 IN FAVOR OF NAN'S ACQUITTAL

By Boston American Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, May 4.—A member of the jury before which Nan Patterson was tried for the murder of "Caesar" Young, and which was unable to agree after thirteen hours of deliberation made the following statement to the BOSTON AMERICAN. His name is withheld at his request, as the jury was cautioned by Recorder Croft not to discuss the case. This statement will in all probability result in the conviction of the "Floradora" girl to bail. The statement follows:

"We stood eight to four for Nan's. Eight of us would never have considered the defendant of the offense charged in any one of the four degrees, and we gained in strength from the first to the final ballot."

"Murder in the first degree was never considered for an instant by the members of the jury."

NONE BELIEVED SUICIDE.

"The jurymen were in the opinion of Nan's girl desired no more degrees than manslaughter in the second degree. 'Caesar' Young shot himself. Every juror believed that. Young was an insane, violent man, and the jury believed that he was the victim of the defendant."

Woman Proprietor of Big Restaurants to Suggest Arbitration at Conference.

WORKERS EXPECT VICTORY

Special to the Boston American.

Waters, May 5. The strike of 1200 waiters may be referred to the State Board of Arbitration. Mrs. Adams Waters, who owns two large restaurants here, says she is willing to submit the matter to arbitration, and this point will be discussed this afternoon, when she and her business manager, John Foster, met President Clegg of the Waters' Union, John Rowan, James August and J. H. Mendenhall for a conference. To a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter, Mrs. Waters said: "I am willing to submit the question to arbitration, but I am not willing to sign the agreement."

Think Demand Infringe.

"I don't think it is fair to expect me to pay higher wages, considering the competition of so many leading houses near the business district. It is not true that I am not willing to pay more. I am willing to pay what is reasonable, but I am not willing to pay what is demanded by the union. The union is asking for a 10 per cent increase, and I am not willing to pay that."

In Sudden Night Attacks

PURE LIQUORS SAVE YOU PHYSICIANS' BILLS

Do you remember the time when you were taken sick in the night—do you remember how suddenly the attack came on—how sick you were? You hated to give trouble to others—yet you found nothing in the family medicine chest that just met your urgent need for prompt relief. So you had to call for your family physician—and doctor's charge for night calls! Of course you handed yourself afterwards for not having on hand a goodly assortment of pure medicinal liquors—but were you guilty? Did you resolve not to let a single day go by without the added security against sudden emergencies that pure GIN Tonic liquors bring you? If you didn't, you'll find a few samples of GIN Tonic goodness below—and treat your stomach with respect, at prices that preserve good health and a full purse.

LOVE'S DUEL BROKE UP $1,000 SUIT GIRL WEDDING WAS FIXED FOR JUNE BUT BEACH OF PROMISE CASE IN ITS PLACE.

STORY BY PRETTY BLONDE

Remembrance for seven years, together at parties and social gatherings, and expecting to be married in June, pretty Dorothy F. Remembrance and Martin F. Money will meet in the courts and face each other in a breach of promise suit.

Miss Remembrance has sued Money for $1,000. The trial will take place in the Superior Court of Suffolk County. It will be a love story that was hygienic for seven years—the story of a girl's love for a young man who turned out to be a fraud. The young woman took with pathetic loyalty of her former lover, and ended in tears and sighs and the courts.

Refused to Explain.

"Yes, it is true that I have sued Martin F. Money for $1,000 in a breach of promise suit," she said when asked at No. 12 Hancock street, West End. I dislike very much taking such steps on account of the publicity and other disagreeable things. But it is really the only remedy I have."

I have given Mr. Money ample opportunity to explain his action in breaking engagement, but he has not yet been able to do so. And when I went to his house to see him he refused to see me. What his reasons are I do not know.

We have been together for seven years. I was not fifteen years old—a mere child—when I first met Martin. We attended parties together and he accompanied me about everywhere. I went to the wedding which took place in late March, when I received a note from him, saying he was ill and could not get up. I have heard from him directly, but I learned that he was not ill as he wrote. If he could for anyone else than his bride, he would have come to the wedding. He told me he was a gentleman and told me so I should not have on this suit. He is now in the city of New York. I have secured Attorney William W. Hink of No. 22 Court street, and he has reached his money in the Five Cents Savings Bank and shall fight for my rights."

A Blonde and Pretty.

Miss Remembrance is a pretty blonde, twenty-two years old and is now residing on Hancock street. Money is twenty-four years old and engaged in the freight department of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Money has served with the Superior Civil Court that he will continue to work, and has been offered a position at North Cambridge. Mr. Money says that he is not worried over the suit.

JABEZ WHITE IN TRAINING

This picture shows Jabez White with his trainer doing road work to-night's fight with Jimmy Britt. If conscientious training will help any, White certainly deserves a victory. The winner of the battle will earn the world's lightweight honors.

BRITT'S BIG FAVORITE IN TONIGHT'S FISTIC CONTEST

B. W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Jimmy Britt of Franchère and Jabez White of Bristol, Maine, England, will throw themselves in fighting position to decide who is the better man of the Queensbury game. The contest is of international importance, and will be one of the most important of the world in a lightweight division that evening. The event is one which will be watched with keen interest by the entire world. The match was held in England, and it is doubtful if it will be held in any other country. It is not raining the city of San Francisco, the interest in it is so great that it is being watched by the entire world. There is every reason to expect a square and a brilliant fight. No boxer has ever trained as White and Britt. They are the only two who have been in camp, has labored assiduously to perfect himself in this style of boxing. The champion of the world is being used to call "the pink of condition" will be more than a few things. HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

80 AND 82 SUMMIT ST., BOSTON, MAY 5, 1905.

A Billion Slaps at Invisible Enemies

That Is the Explanation of Dr. Harper's Cancer Cure—IF IT IS A CURE

up again and told him that he could live for about a year, and must then die.

Exactly the same thing happened to Mr. Baldwin, recently president of the Long Island Railroad. He was operated on. The operation revealed a cancer that could not be cut out because vital organs were too near it. He was sewed up, told that he must die in a few weeks, and he did die, as the doctors said.

The case of Dr. Harper of the Chicago University is different in one respect—and in that fact all men will rejoice.

Dr. Harper has been treated by the application of radium, and declares confidently that he is cured and fears the cancer no longer.

His friends say that he looks like a different man, with color in his cheeks, hope and determination in his manner.

There could be no better news than a positive announcement of Dr. Harper's permanent cure.

Cancer baffles human intelligence and destroys life among us as surely as does the fatal bite of the cobra in India.

Once bitten by the cancer, there has been no cure. Slowly the disease led to the grave, with dreadful suffering.

The announcement made so confidently by Dr. Harper will fill with hope many sorrow-laden human beings. Cancer attacks women especially, and women at the age when they most deserve freedom from pain; it attacks the mothers, the best women, and fills their sons and daughters with anguish that cannot be relieved.

It is necessary, first of all, to utter a warning against too great hope based on the alleged Harper cure.

It may be that Dr. Harper is really cured. It may be that his disease has been checked and that he feels the benefit of a cessation of the attack on his vitality.

It may be he simply believes that he is better and that the improvement noticed by his friends simply reflects the passing effect of the mind on the body.

The important thing is that false hopes should not be raised in the hearts of thousands who cancer fills with dreadful fear—that pitiless charlatans shall not be permitted to use this one case to make money out of misfortune.

No announcement of an individual cure should arouse hopes that lead to often to deeper despair.

Yet there is undoubtedly ground for SOME hope in this effort to use the power of radium in fighting cancer and similar diseases.

It is perhaps worth while to put in homely language the possible action of radium on human diseases, so that all may understand the proposition.

If you hear that radium can cure disease, you might be fooled by all sorts of yarns about bottled radium, radium "extract" and similar dishonest nonsense.

Radium is an extremely rare and expensive substance, which can be honestly and successfully (?) applied only by really scientific men. Its action is perfectly simple. If you are cured of cancer by radium, that radium acts on the cancer exactly as you act WHEN YOU SLAP AND KILL A MOSQUITO.

The mosquito is a tiny living animal that attacks your body. You slap—it dies.

The blow with which you kill the mosquito is fatal to that small creature—IT DOES NOT KILL YOU.

What you had done to the mosquito the infinitely feeble blow of the radium does to the cancer germ.

Radium is a peculiar substance that continually throws off millions and billions of tiny, inconceivably minute particles of matter.

The force of the radiation is so slight that it can hardly be conceived.

Yet each tiny particle of radium is sufficient to destroy the life of one of the invisible living germs that destroy our lives in cancer and other diseases.

You know the story of the big bear that wanted to crush a fly off his master's hand. He killed the fly and killed the man.

When a surgeon attacks the cancer with the knife he often finds that he must kill the man to kill the cancer.

Our sight is too feeble, our hands too gross to attack separately the microscopic germs of disease. We cut the man to pieces trying to destroy the germ.

It may be that radium can do the work that is beyond the skill of the surgeon's knife.

The mysterious radiating substance, piercing what we call "solid matter," and attacking, with millions of blows, the tiny enemies of our lives, may solve the question that puzzled the bear—how to kill the fly without killing the man.

In that way you can look intelligently at radium. It is a force that acts with infinite velocity and frequency. The blow of one of the particles is too slight for you to feel—but IT MAY KILL THE CANCER GERM.

Suppose a fly were biting a calf. If a lion tried to kill the fly his power would kill fly and calf both. But a small monkey could kill the fly and not hurt the calf.

Radium or some similar substance may solve our great germ question by striking billions of tiny blows, each strong enough to kill an invisible germ, yet not strong enough to disturb the equilibrium of the vast universe of complicated cells that we call "a man."

What radium is alleged to do to the germ of cancer it could do to the germ of tuberculosis and other deadly microscopic enemies of human life.

It is not too much to hope that the work will be done in time.

There will be problems raised by the depth at which the diseased tissue lies beneath the surface.

The sick should not hope for too much within their individual life times. But there is great hope for the race which is slowly overcoming its invisible enemies as it overcame long ago the gigantic enemies, the mammoth, the wolf, the bear and the lion.

Workingmen Must

under private employment are those which have won this advantage ground by a measure of strong and scientific trade unionism.

Trades unionism stands for self help. It teaches that what is worth having is worth demanding and struggling for. It utilizes the elementary qualities of human nature in its tactics. It does not work for others, but it does work for itself. It doesn't waste energy in attempting to reconstruct leaders to imaginary millionaires, but it does build sturdy, stalwart shelters against the storms of adversity.

If, then, the Supreme Court decision teaching in its consequences of any rendered by the Supreme Court during the last hundred years.

In the interest of a settled public opinion, it is possibly to be regretted that the decision obtained by so slight a majority. However, a majority of one in our highest judicial tribunal is as decisive as in a ward room—perhaps more so, as there is no recount.

After the judges, what?

It must not for a moment be assumed that the struggle of wage earners for better conditions of employment will be checked because of this judicial mandate that State Government may not enact laws which interfere with the right of contract between adult males.

But if an insuperable barrier is to be set up by the judiciary across the path of labor's legislative advance, then the line of real resistance must be located elsewhere.

It is a question, after all, as to whether the habit of looking to the State for the settlement of grievances exists between the buyers and sellers of labor has not been seriously detrimental to the true interests of the labor movement.

That are, of a more, maintenance of the wage earning citizen for the defense of which the ballot is a powerful and essential weapon. A purely economic protest is powerless against the operations of special privileges granted by legislative bodies, privileges by means of which the possessors are enabled to exploit both employers and employees.

But in the contention directly between the wage earner and his employer as to hours, hours and conditions of work, industrial history appears to indicate that craft or more has been accomplished by the efforts of organized workmen than by State interference.
